HONEYMOON PLANNING MADE SIMPLE

---

Hello honeymooner! I'm thrilled to welcome you to the world of myHoneymoon – a bespoke travel planning experience that will help you design your dream upmarket honeymoon.

As a native of Greece and a lover of its rich history, fascinating culture and delicious cuisine, I'm well placed to point out all of my beautiful country's best parts.

I'm sure you're curious about how me and my team make the complex honeymoon planning process simple, aren't you?

Well, here's a little bit of insight into what the process looks like for our wonderful honeymooners to be...

PREPARING TO PLAN

Before we sit down for our first virtual conversation, you need to have at least an idea of what you're looking for. I know – suggesting you plan how to plan sounds crazy, doesn't it? But hear me out, honeymooners. Trying to decide the details of your honeymoon with a planner will be a lot more stressful if you and your partner aren't on the same page.

Let's say you've got your heart set on a beach break, but your partner wants a history-filled country escape. If you haven't talked about your wishes beforehand, our initial conversations could be a little tricky. Neither of you will know where you're willing to compromise nor what your absolute must-haves are. It's a recipe for an argument at an often fraught time like the run-up to your wedding.

Pick a time when you're both relaxed and content – after a romantic dinner or during a lazy Sunday at home – and ask each other what the perfect honeymoon looks like. At the very least, try and establish the basics, like how quickly after your wedding you'd like to jet off, the kind of environment you like (beach, city, mountains, countryside) and how long you'd like your break to be.

Getting shrugs or one-word answers from your partner?

Would you rather spend the honeymoon recharging and relaxing or exploring new places?

What do you want to remember about our honeymoon?

What should the theme of our honeymoon be (such as food, history, modern culture, nightlife)?

What's your idea of honeymoon hell?

Pick five words that describe a perfect honeymoon for you.

STRIKING A BALANCE

One of the biggest problems some couples have is crafting a honeymoon that suits their very different personalities. As they say, opposites attract. But while your differing interests may add interest to your day to day lives, honeymooners can clash over such an important occasion. Add into the mix limited knowledge of your chosen country, leaving you stuck with the few, unsuitable options advertised by mainstream holiday companies, and you've got a recipe for disaster!

That's why working with a honeymoon planner is important. I can show you destinations away from the typical tourist trails that have everything you and your spouse are looking for. You could explore islands that are rich in history and bustling nightlife in equal measure. You could go for a city that has a quaint taverna round every corner and beautiful beaches just waiting to be explored.

Once I have spent a little time getting to know you both, I can work my magic and come up with a plan that you'll love. Your honeymoon is a time to connect and solidify your bond so it can weather life's storms, and I'll make sure you've got the perfect setting for that.

IRONING OUT THE DETAILS

One thing I pride myself on is listening to what my couples really want. Your honeymoon should be about you and your new spouse, not what your planner thinks you will like or should do. It's easy to get caught up in their infectious enthusiasm and end up going along with a plan that's not right for you; that's not the way I like to do things.

With myHoneymoon, everything we do is about you. After getting an idea of what you're looking for, we'll go away and do extensive research to find the ideal property and plan your perfect itinerary. But if our suggestions don't quite hit the mark first time around, we'll go back and forth until every aspect of your honeymoon looks perfect.

Because that's just what they are: suggestions. Nothing is booked until you and your partner have given everything the final seal of approval.

My goal is to help you plan a trip you'll remember for the laughter, romance, culture and fantastic food you enjoyed on it, rather than the stress and hassle of organising it.
